

AFA Funding and Sponsors

Supporting The Atrial Fibrillation Association

AFA relies on funding and donations from numerous sources, Trusts, Foundations, industry, public donations and individuals, for the continuation of its operations. In order to ensure its independence, AFA does not accept donations that are dependent on policies set by others. The Trustees exercise care that funding does not condition its priority setting, the mission, messages, or any other activities of the organisation, thereby ensuring the independence of the AFA to carry out its mission and objectives.

Our funders, including individuals, support groups, industry, organisations, Trusts and Foundations are of high standing and reputation, all of whom reinforce the AFA's overall mission and work and help support the integrity of the organisation. Our working relationship is established on the basis of shared interest, transparency, trust, and mutual benefit. Funders and sponsors do not represent the AFA as an endorser of any specific product or service, nor does any partnership imply the AFA's endorsement of a corporation, its products or its services.
